Useful websites for home learning

Please find below a list of useful websites for learning whilst at home. You will find a range of sites for a range of subjects. At LaceyField, we believe in offering a broad and balanced curriculum, which means working on a wide range of subjects to increase children's knowledge and improve children's skill in all areas of learning. By doing this, they are able to work on the areas they excel in, and the areas they find more challenging as it is hugely important that they know and understand both. We hope you'll enjoy a wide range of activities from these sites. And remember, this is not an exhaustive list – there are many more wonderful resources out there!

For reading, your first port of call should be Bug Club which you can access through the active learn portal. Please contact the LaceyField team if you are unsure of your child's account details...
